Singapore Business Review Awards 2017 honours 22 outstanding firms

Around 180 guests attended the awards dinner held on June 8.

It is imperative for local and international companies in Singapore to innovate in order to stand out amidst the uncertainties in both the local and global markets. In an effort to recognise the companies that excelled despite the market challenges, Singapore Business Review held this year's International Business Awards, National Business Awards, and Listed Companies Awards.

The winning companies were honoured and presented to around 180 participants at a joint awards ceremony held on June 8, 2017, at the Conrad Centennial Singapore.

Now on its fourth year, the International Business Awards lauds the most outstanding international firms operating in Singapore. The Listed Companies Awards, on the other hand, is now on its third year of recognising innovative publicly listed companies in the city-state. Meanwhile, homegrown Singaporean companies were honoured in the second National Business Awards.

This year's nominations were judged by a panel consisting of Ng Jiak See, executive director and head of corporate finance advisory at Deloitte Singapore & Southeast Asia; Choo Eng Chuan, ASEAN markets leader and partner, international and corporate tax services at Ernst & Young Solutions LLP; Toh Kim Teck, assurance partner at Foo Kon Tan LLP; and Henry Tan, managing director at NEXIA TS.
